Direct Benefit Transfer for LPG (DBTL)

- The Government of India (GOI) gives subsidy to the customers on the purchase of domestic LPG cylinders of 14.2 kg and 5 kg. The rate of the LPG subsidy is decided market-wise.
- Direct Benefit Transfer of LPG Subsidy (DBTL) scheme was initially rolled out in 291 districts in the country starting from 1st June 2013 in six phases. In this scheme, the Aadhaar number was must for availing LPG subsidy by consumer.
- Under the scheme, consumers were to pay the market price for the domestic LPG refill and the subsidy amount was transferred directly to their bank account.
- Thereafter, the Government comprehensively reviewed the scheme and after examining the difficulties faced by the consumers, re-launched a modified scheme on 15.11.2014 and named it as PAHAL - Pratyaksh Hanstantrit Labh.
- Under the revised scheme, customers not having Aadhaar can also join the scheme by submitting their bank account details to LPG distributor.
- Oil Marketing Companies are transferring the subsidies to the bank a/c of the customers through Public Financial Management System (PFMS) and are claiming the same from GOI through Petroleum Planning and Analysis Cell every month.

Authentications/ Checks available in system

- Enrollment of customers based on submitted KYC, POI (Proof of Identity) & POA (Proof of Address) document, thereby ensuring genuineness of the connection.
- Deduplication on name & address of customer to identify multiple connection suspect, on industry basis.
- Seeding of Aadhaar number by LPG distributor in LPG database, based on Aadhaar card copy submitted by the customer.
- Ensuring uniqueness of LPG connection based on deduplication of Aadhaar. By this it is ensured that an individual cannot get more than 12 subsidized cylinders from the system.
- For Aadhaar Transfer Compliant (ATC) customers, Aadhaar seeding at bank end :-
 - i) Opening of Bank A/c with KYC norms of banking system.
 - ii) Seeding of Aadhaar in bank a/c by submission of Aadhaar consent form by customers. In many banks Aadhaar authentication is also carried out before seeding Aadhaar.
- For Bank Transfer Compliant (BTC) customer, bank a/c seeding at LPG distributorship in LPG data,
 - i) Based on the submitted documents, i.e., passbook of customers.
 - ii) Followed by verification of the seeded bank a/c at banks end by matching account number and name.

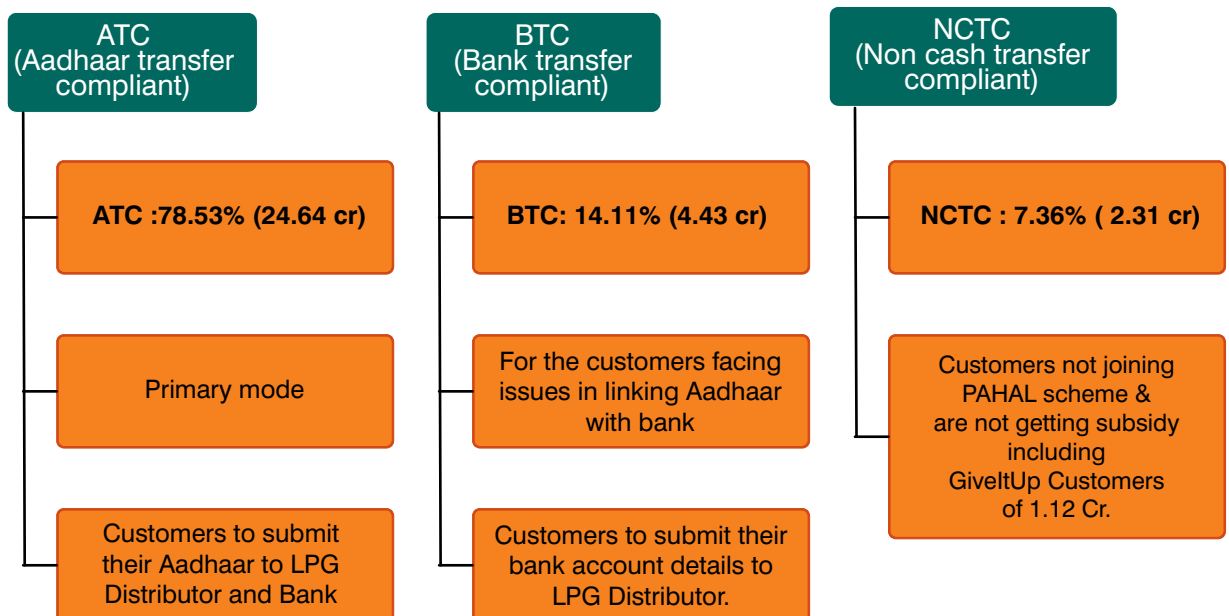

Checks available in LPG refill Cycle process

- Customer is given 3 SMS updates (on refill booking, cash memo generation & delivery confirmation) on his mobile number thus making him fully aware of all stages of transaction.
- Refill delivery is mandatory at customer premises.
- Counterfoil of the cash memo has to be signed by the customers as the delivery receipt which has to be preserved by the distributors for further audits.
- Subsidy is credited in the customer bank a/c after ensuring delivery confirmation by distributor in the system, thereby minimising the incentive for diversion.
- Feedback link is given after refill delivery, which is monitored by OMC officials through analytical reports.
- Well laid down system of handling grievances received through call centre and website.
